Config to HTML

- Cfg2html is a collection of shell scripts for various platforms. It creates a HTML and plain ASCII system documentation for HP-UX, SCO-UNIX, AIX, Sun OS/Solaris, Embedded systems, Brocade switches and Linux systems.
- Everything is included to rebuild a crashed system from scratch!
- Cfg2html is widely used to document the actual system configuration.

History

For consulting and troubleshooting I wrote around 1997 HP-UX shell scripts (NFS, LVM etc.) that customers could execute and mail back the results.

In 1998 the cfg2html engine was developed. On the February 1st. 1999 the HP-UX version 0.80 was initially released to the public.

From the 1.xx HP-UX stream (2001) all other *NIX derivates were split off and ported.

Future Plans/Vision

(after 13 years maturation)

- Common interface and command line → done
- One shell script for all operating systems
- Table driven engine (working prototype exists)
- Common license (GPL) → done!
- XHTML 1.0 strict output (30% done)
- XML output
- Adding the ParaDB (CI-DB) + web interface
- GIT/CVS/SVN repository for public access → done!
